About This Game

Omegalodon is a third-person multiplayer action game where players compete by attacking/defending the city. The Red Team is comprised of police and soldiers armed with an array of military vehicles and explosive weaponry. The Green Team is comprised of Omegalodon, a 100-foot shark monster, and the Enviros, equipped with a healing beam. The game plays like a backward tower-defense game, but with free-roaming capability and fast-paced, realtime action.

Omegalodon's objective is a nuclear containment dome at the city center. The round will end if it is destroyed, the timer reaches zero, or if Omegalodon dies.

Features

- Fully destructible environments
- Dozens of drivable vehicles including helicopters, cargo ships, and jets
- 30-minute round-based multiplayer
- Dozens of simultaneous players
- Story elements with full voice acting
- Nine square miles of open world, spanning islands and cityscapes

- A colorful, retro aesthetic

Jesus, I remember this game. Nerd played it and it looked so much fun!... but now, it's sadly dead. Nobody plays it and it's a bummer.

RIP shark : 2013 - 2015. The game is nice but... The Omegalodon has a WAAAAAY to long road, because no one wants to help the shark so the Omegalodon has one teammate and 6 soldier enemys, that needs to be fixed, also soldiers stuff/vehicles is way too op.

Thanks for reading. Not enough servers and if you get in a game, its friends playing together and they kick you. Worst multiplayer ever and difficult to set bots. cool sandbox but no way to play multiplayer. good game but hard to get on a sever with alot of people. It's an okay game, fun to mess around when there's not enough people for the actual game, the actual game is pretty fun too. There's a decent amount of cars and helicopters, the city is pretty big too.

Only flaws are that the game can become a little repitive and you have to be on at the right time if you want a server with a decent amount of players, the camera angle is also a little clunky which makes it harder to see what is ahead of you and also there is no scoreboard or something to show your stats.

8/10. Great Game! Fun for all the family! No, seriously. A really fun game when your bored.. Okay. This game is great. I love multiplayer, there's a chat, plenty of funny glitches, and a great gameplay. I'm recommending it because more people need to play it. It's not very fun if you aren't on a server with multiple people. There is one ginormous issue that can be easily fixed: Not everyone is on the same update. Most people are using 1.4, and 1.6 is released, and if another person is on a different version than you, you can't join the server. It's amking the small player count even worse.
